
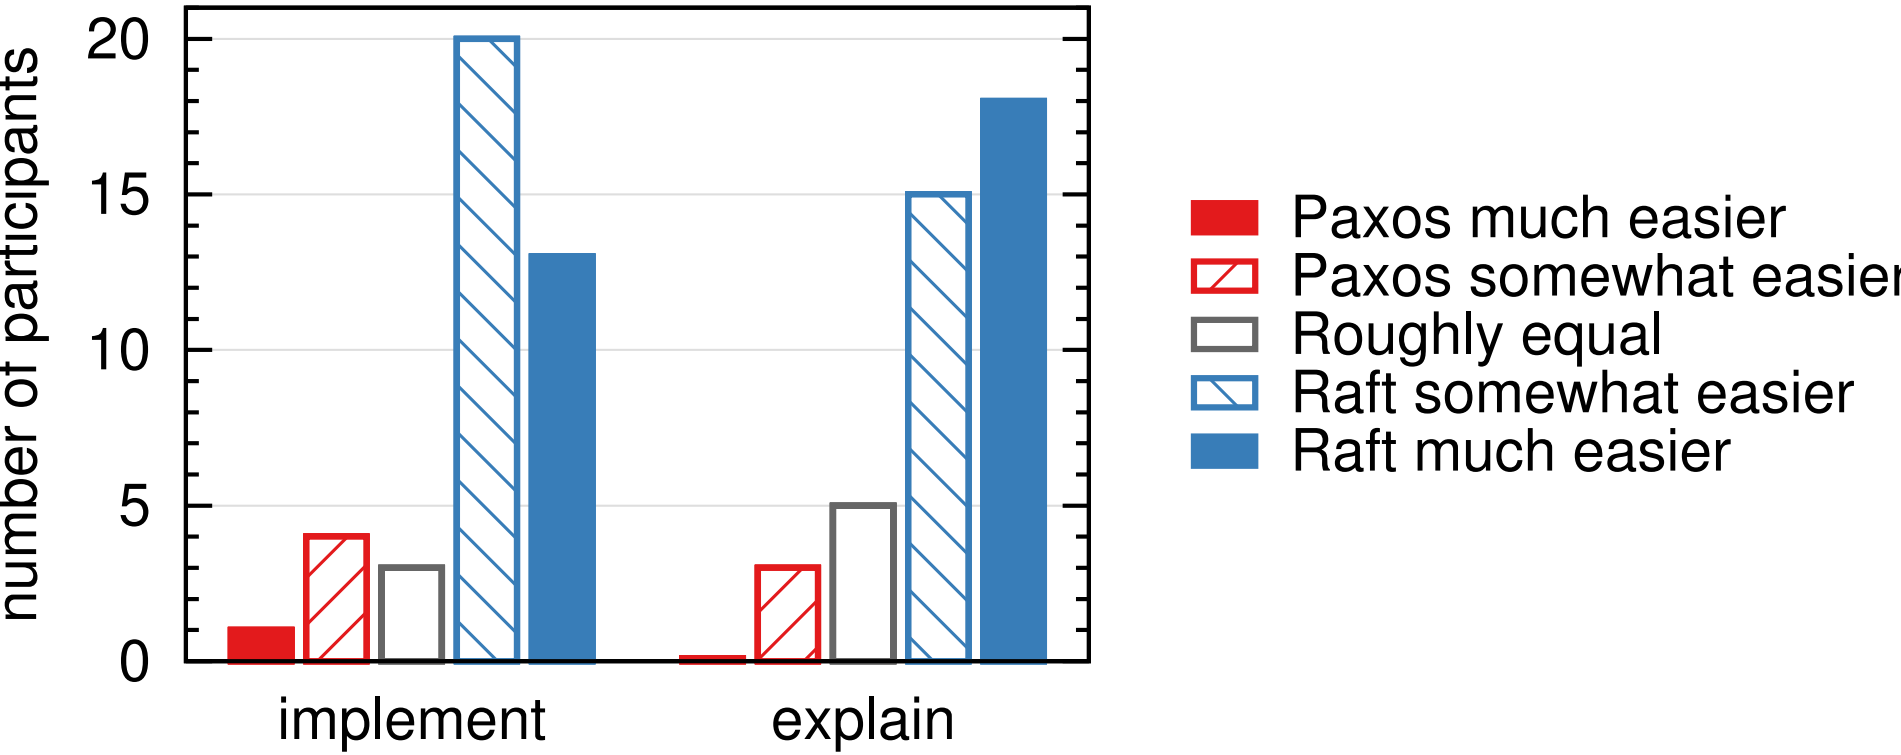

Figure 15: Using a 5-point scale, participants were asked (left) which algorithm they felt would be easier to implement in a functioning, correct, and efficient system, and (right) which would be easier to explain to a CS graduate student.